

Bowling Prodigy

A prodigy is defined as a person having extraordinary talent or ability, or as being a marvelous example. I am the next bowling prodigy and I will explain how I possess extraordinary talent and why I am a marvelous example of a great bowler.

I understand and exemplify the most important aspect of any competition, sportsmanship. Good sportsmanship is the most important quality any athlete can possess. I strive to always be a better sportsman than I was yesterday. I constantly push myself to congratulate and encourage my teammates as well as my competitors because it is important for me to present myself in a way that reflects positively on the sport of bowling. Good sportsmanship is infectious and creates a healthy competitive environment. My goal is to be a prime example of how to conduct yourself in a bowling center and eliminate the bad tempers that lead to damaging equipment and using foul language while bowling.

I have a burning desire to improve my game through knowledge and coaching. I have been blessed with a great physical game and strong mechanics, but I strive to learn as much about bowling as I can through research and coaching instruction. I have a unique style that allows me to be fluid yet employ a power game while bowling. I also have a great aptitude for listening to my coaches and applying their knowledge to improve my game with every lesson. I know that with growing my knowledge of the sport, great coaching and competing at the toughest events possible, I will expand my skills to become a great bowler and achieve my goals of winning a PBA Regional event as well as the High Roller tournament.

I want to grow the sport of bowling and create value for others. It is important for those within a sport to find ways to create value and give back to the bowling world. If each individual finds a way to create value for someone else, the sport of bowling would expand and become more fulfilling for everyone involved. I have become certified as a USBC Silver coach so that I could provide value for other bowlers. I volunteer as a High School bowling coach to introduce the sport to new athletes while building and polishing the skills of the established athletes. My goal of becoming the youngest Gold level coach will help me to create exponentially more value for other bowlers while giving back to the bowling world.

I believe that a bowling prodigy is someone who possesses great potential to not only do well for themselves in the sport of bowling, but to do great things for others as well. It is someone who can create value and enhance the lives of others in the bowling world. I know I possess great skill for bowling, but I also have a lot of potential to create value for others and improve the bowling world. This is why I am the next bowling prodigy.
