

ASTROPHYSIX™

WEIRD BUT TRUE SCIENCE

At Storm, our intention creates our reality. When discussing the best balls on the market, our players invariably mention the PhysiX™. As always, we don't build bowling balls just because we can. We define the need based on the feedback from our tour professionals, Storm VIP pro shop operators, and our loyal fans. The all-new AstroPhysiX is yet another exemplary gem that will fulfill the needs of many.

CREATIVITY IS CONTAGIOUS - PASS IT ON

Most of the time, our top-drawer coverstocks are reserved for the Premier Line. However, not all balls require wide footprints with high oil displacement ratings. An extremely clean, backend-focused asymmetric with a distinct reaction unlike anything else in the lineup was what we set out to invent, and the AstroPhysiX succeeds with celestial colors. Literally.

Power and angle come in spades when R2S Pearl blankets the Atomic Core. Our team unanimously enjoyed the AstroPhysiX, and it shouldn't come as a surprise that this ball was built to clear and kick. R2S's extended length delays the reaction for a momentous backend move to the pocket. It's faster and livelier, and it's been retooled with an agile coverstock that's willing to navigate just about any part of the lane.

The AstroPhysiX's shining attribute is the Atomic Core with a super-low RG that helps generate spin. This extremely center-heavy mass gets the ball moving in a dangerous way. This provides the ball with added responsiveness and rewards the player who can roll it with authority. The AstroPhysiX is an excellent option for players who like to swing big and want some extra backend leverage to give their game a boost.

If you're looking to show your opponents what power and precision can look like, don't think twice about drilling the heavenly AstroPhysiX – designed by the best brand the sport has ever seen.
