

Rubicon™ UC3

BEHIND THE DESIGN: From initial conception, we knew we needed to create a urethane option that was different than all the other options on the market today that works for every level of player from novice to the most elite Touring Professionals.

For starters, in order to create something this universally versatile, we knew we needed to use core dynamics that would generate enough flare and motion for everyone, so, we opted to start with the mildly asymmetric Rondure™ Core. From there, the R&D team went to work creating hands down the truest and most consistent urethane material Roto Grip has ever offered. After countless tests and formula tweaks, we determined the pearlized version was the ideal answer to combat those high friction patterns and lane surfaces found around the globe.
